Robertson, Miss Mary Cart, Miss Kathie Waller, Leonard Dobson, Miss Dimple Conover; Mr. Tim Cravens, Miss Nina Marcum.

Doors Farming Day?

Well, that is a question that is answered in the affirmative only by energy and good judgment. There are many of our farmers steadily adding to good bank accounts in a quiet way, while many are wrestling with deficits and empty corn cribs. In conversation with Mr. B. C. Baker, he recently informed that he had recently bought from John N. Conover $425 worth of oats and hay off of 36 acres of land. In view of these figures it appears that farming has its rewards.

J. H. Reynolds, who has been visiting relatives in this county, has returned to his home at Pensacola, Fla. He is an ex-confederate soldier and this was his first visit to his old Kentucky home for thirty-eight years.

Mr. Editor, I have been requested to write up a bee hunting incident: Some weeks ago Mr. H. B. Parker discovered bees in an old tree and decided to cut it down, so inviting in a goodly number of hands and some spectators, they went to work and cut it down, then they concluded to rest awhile before tackling the little insects.

When some of the party, more daring than the others, peeped into the tree and discovered two wasps which flew away, Mr. Parker took his washing tubs, which he had carried to bring the honey away in, and went home.

MOODY.

Plenty of Rain.
Mr. S. M. Wilson has erected a new barn.

There is a fine crop of watermelons in this section.

Lots of oats are ruined on account of so much rain.

Quite a large crowd went to Griffin Springs last week.

Mr. A. N. Bridgewater has bought lots of hogs for September at 5¢ a pound.

Death entered the home of Mr. W. P. Bailey, on July 15, and claimed for its victim his daughter, Miss Hallie. They have the sympathy of their many friends and relatives in this hour of their saddest bereavement she was a devoted christian and will be missed by her many friends.

JAMES TRIPLETT,

DENTIST,

COLUMBIA, KENTUCKY

OFFICE IN JEFFRIES BLOCK.

General Buford's Narrow Escape:

A number of years ago General Abe Buford was the Democratic nominee for the Legislature in Woodford county. He was an aristocrat and unpopular. The Republicans nominated Mr. Lewis Creek. Mr. Creek kept the toll gate on the Shroyers Ferry pike, raised water welons and was popular with the masses. Buford and Creek each weighed about three-hundred and fifty pounds. It was when the question of fish protection was prominent. Gen. Buford made an appointment to speak at the courthouse in Versailles but would not lower his dignity by dividing time with Mr. Creek. In his speech the General advocated the most stringent fish laws. He would send every man to jail who seined, trapped or fished any other way than with the hook and line. By previous arrangement there were loud calls for Creek when Buford finished. Creek did not claim to be a speaker but took the stand and made a speech about as follows:

"Gentlemen, General Buford talks about fishin' he wants to cut us poor people out of fishin'; we ain't got no money to buy a twenty-dollar reel, a two-dollar line and a seven-dollar pole, and ain't got no time to wait for 'em to bite now. We have to work. Fish are hard enough to ketch anyhow and we want to be allowed to ketch 'em eny way we can. We don't want no law's about fishin', people always did ketch 'em eny way they could. God made the fish to be ketched and eat. The old Prophets was fishermen, and the Disciples was fishermen and Jesus Christ was a fisherman." Just then some one in the crowd disturbed Mr. Creek and denied that there was any account where Christ ever fished. Mr. Creek came back by saying, "I know I don't say so exactly but he was a good fisher."

Don't you remember that night when the discipline had fish in 'em all night and Jesus cum down the next mornin' and axed 'em what luck, and they said they hadn't ketched a thing and don't you know how he looked about a little and told them to cast the net on the other side and they kottedched more than they could pull in?

Now if he hadn't bin a fisherman, how would he be known where the places was?

Buford only won by a few votes although the county was largely Democratic.

Farmers Score Catalogue Houses.

A Minnesota farmer, according to Hardware Trade, of Minneapolis, wrote the following pointed letter to a Chicago catalogue house from which he had received several circulars:

Gentlemen: I have your favor dated April 5, 1905, relative to a catalogue which you seem to think was sent me by you some time ago, and which you intimate that you should be obliged to recall.

Now, relating to this matter, I would say that I have never received a catalogue from your house. Some time ago I received a letter from you requesting me to send 15 cents or an order for $1 worth of goods, in consideration. You also agreed to send the catalogue on approval, subject to ten days examination before same should be accepted by me, or paid for as above. This latter proposition of yours was evidently only a bluff, because the catalogue has never been sent me, and I am somewhat surprised at the contents of your more recent favor, soliciting an order from me.

Personally, I have never had any cause to regret the fact that I had not received your catalogue because I do not believe in buying my goods in Chicago, distant three-hundred miles from home. I can get my goods within an hour's drive from my farm and enjoy the satisfaction of inspecting these goods, which privilege is worth more than the slight difference in cost. Furthermore, if I send you for goods you expect cash to accompany the order, or you refuse to send the goods, and I am therefore paying for goods that I have never had the opportunity to see, which to any sane man is rather an unbusinesslike proposition.

Here at home I am able to obtain goods on several months' time; often with the payment of a cent of interest, which no catalogue house I know of will do.

I am satisfied that if our home dealers could do a strictly cash business as you do they could sell goods as cheap as any catalogue house on earth. We are obliged at times to ask for more or less credit, and would certainly be very unreasonable to give that portion of our trade only to our merchants and what little cash we do have to concerns like yours, who are of no benefit to our community. We would be willing, in fact, to pay a little more for what we have to buy when we must realize that the difference in price is simply our just portion toward building up our community and maintaining the thriving cities and towns that make our life worth living, and most decidedly increased the value of our farm lands.

Moreover I do not believe in contributing toward the establishment of more trusts. We certainly have trusts enough to contend with at the present time without making any more, and we are simply assisting to establish a trust when we persist in sending all the surplus cash of the country to you, doing it at the expense of our own merchants and therefore our own welfare.

Farmers who will stop to consider this matter will realize that their home merchants will make to them many concessions in prices and otherwise, will more than equal any benefit that may be derived from patronizing your house.

You express regret at not having received any orders from me, and I have only to say that all fish do not bite on sucker hooks.

Men who Kill a Town.

The following, clipped from an exchange, contains some stubborn facts that cannot be denied: A town that never has anything to do in a public way is on the way to the cemetery. Any citizen who will do nothing for his town, furnishes the coffin. The man who is so selfish as to have no time for business to give to city affairs is making the shroud. The man who will not advertise, is driving the hearse. The man who is always pulling back from any public enterprise, throws bouquets on the grave. The man who is so stingy and selfish as to be howling hard times, preaches the funeral sermon and sings the doxology, and thus the town lies buried, free from all sorrow and care.

Stonewall Jackson Story.

We heard lately of an old veteran with one arm gone who declared that Stonewall Jackson excelled the world in making a flank movement. After telling his story, and to prove his point, he said: "The day Jackson died the good Lord sent two mighty angels from heaven to take him home. When they came to earth Jackson was no where to be found. They climbed up the white way again, and were about to tell the sad story of their failure to find him, when lo, they saw Jackson standing arrayed in glorious vestment before the throne. They then discovered that he had made a flank movement and reached heaven sooner than the angels themselves." —Baptist Banner.

Robert E. Perry announced the other in New York that he would sail on an expedition to the Pole this week.

HAY'S SUCCESSOR. JOHN PAUL JONES.

The Office of Secretary of State Tendered to Elihu Root by the President.

HE RELUCTANTLY ACCEPTS IT.

Mr. Root at First Declined Owing to the Extremely Uncle-aity Climate of Washington.

He Makes a Sacrifice. As His Income
From His Practice Is About $200, $200 Annually, While the Secretary's Salary Is $8,000.

New York, July 7.—President Roosevelt has offered the position of Secretary of State to Elihu Root. The offer was made to him this way back to the trade after the funeral of Secretary of State Hay. Mr. Root at first declined, and asked that he be not pressed. He has since accepted, as his reasons show. His wife found that the climate of Washington extremely unhealthy, and that further he had arrived at the time of life when it behoved him to pay some attention to securing a competency after his retirement. He is now in the public service. It is said by financial men here that in his capacity as consulting attorney for some of the newest financial interests in the world, his income may be very moderately estimated at $200,000 annually, while the position of secretary of state pays but $8,000 annually, hardly enough to pay house rent in Washington. President Roosevelt urged upon Mr. Root that at this time it was his duty to set his private interests aside and yield to the call made upon him by his country. Mr. Root reluctantly assented.

Legal Responsibility.
Since Mr. Root left the cabinet a few months ago he has assumed a tremendous load of legal responsibility. He has probably accepted retainers amounting to many thousands of dollars. The portfolio he now holds would necessitate not only the return of this money, but the release from his pledges by the influential clients who have employed him. The time his clients may cause delay may settle that off-hand in his mind.

Mr. Root will settle that off-hand in his mind, when he has decided to whom he will employ him to handle his affairs. He should insist upon his fulfilling his contracts with them, he will probably be obliged to decline the president's offer and release the one that goes with it, the president's offer and the one that goes with the secretary of state.

Mr. Root absolutely declines to make any statement regarding his attitude on the tender of the portfolio. He is anxious to accept, and has made known his desire to do so, but he has received retainers for legal advice and counsel. Mr. Root held several conferences looking to be relieved from his private legal engagements. Because of the nature of the tender there is no doubt that his hands will be tied and his acceptance soon made public.

Round House Destroyed.

Nashville, Tenn., July 5.—A round house in the South Nashville yards of the L. & N. railroad was destroyed by fire. Loss on the building is estimated at $50,000, while nine locomotives were damaged to the extent of $1,000 each.

An Immense Log Jam.

Minneapolis, July 7.—There are now in the Mississippi a hundred million feet of timber jammed in the river three miles north of Camden, in North Minneapolis. The jam endangers every bridge in the city of Minneapolis.

Mrs. Hay at Home.

Newburgh, N. H., July 7.—Mrs. Hay widow of the late secretary of state arrived here in her return from Cleveland. She was accompanied by her son Clarence and proceeded at once to "The Falls."

Big Tannery Deal.

Titusville, Pa., July 7.—The Queen City tannery, the largest sole leather manufacturer in the world, was sold by Lucius Beebe & Sons, of Boston, to the United States Leather Co., for about $1,500,000.

Remains of the Founder of the American Navy Delivered to the United States.

THE OCCASION WAS VERY UNIQUE.

The Ceremony Was One Combining Impressive Dignity with Brilliant
Military and Naval Pomp.

In the Presence of High Dignitaries
of France and Diplomatic Representatives of Foreign Nations
the Transfer Was Made.

Paris, July 7.—The government of the highest dignitaries of France, the diplomatic representatives of many foreign governments and civil and naval officials of the United States, the body of Adm. John Paul Jones was formally delivered to the United States government. The ceremony was one combining impressive dignity with brilliant military and naval pomp in which the soldiers and sailors of France and the sailors of America united in rendering honor to the last of the founders of the American navy.

Soldiers has an event awakened such widespread interest in the French capital. Dense throngs packed the Champs Elysees and other principal thoroughfares to witness the imposing ceremony. The solemnity of the solemnity of the occasion equalled the martial display on the occasion of the King of King Alfonso.

Casket Wrapped in American Flag.

The ceremony of delivering the body was held in the American church on the Avenue de l'Alma. The casket of this patriotic edifice was tastefully decorated with plants and flowers. At the foot of the chancel rested the casket wrapped in an American flag and liberally buried in masses of floral blossoms. The French and American bands marched and played, and the band of the arrangements and cutlery of the foreign office, wearing impressive silver chains, acted as ushers.

At the right of the alter sat Ambassador McCormick, Senior Special Agent of the Bureau of Investigation, Ambassador Looms, United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Adm. Sigsbee and other officers of the American squadron. Across the aisle sat President Roosevelt, the members of his cabinet, practically the entire corps of naval corps and officers of the army and navy. The members of the diplomatic corps were in full uniform. Sailors of American sailors in full uniform stood at the entrance of the nave, a fitting background to the impressive scene. After brief religious services Gen. Porter, wearing evening dress according to the French custom, with the red sash of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, and Mr. Root, who advanced alongside the casket and finally delivered the body to Mr. Looms, as the representative of the United States government, who accepted it in the name of the government and constituted Adm. Sigsbee to transport it to the United States.

"My Country, 'Tis of Thee."

"As the surprised choir took up "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," the entire assembly arose and joined in the strain of the national hymn. Eight bands from the foreign legations stepped forward and raising the casket on their shoulders bore it slowly from the church to the waiting gun-carriage. There it was draped with the colors of the corps and was drawn by six black horses.

Arriving at the Esplanade des Invalides, an imposing picture was presented. The French government had erected a large pavilion in which to receive the casket. The pavilion was richly decorated with crimson velvet, and a large gilded dome of the tomb of Napoleon.

The casket was deposited in the center of the pavilion while the cortège passed, rendering military honors. Later it was borne to the Invalides railroad station and placed in a funeral car, which, guarded by French and American sailors, it was started for Cherbourg.

Killing Beef.

It is important that an animal intended for slaughter should be kept off feed from twenty-four to thirty-six hours. If on full feed the system is gorged and the blood loaded with assimilated nutrients, is driven to the extremities of the capillaries. In such condition it is impossible to thoroughly drain out the veins when the animal is bled, and a redish color and unattractive carcass is the result, says the "Field and Farm." Food in the stomach decomposes very rapidly after slaughter and when the dressing is slow the gases generated, often flavors the meat. Water should be given freely up to the time of slaughter as it keeps the temperature normal and helps to wash the effete matter out of the system, resulting in a nicely colored carcass.

The care of animals previous to slaughter has considerable effect on the keeping qualities of the meat. It is highly important that they are not excited in any way sufficiently to raise the temperature of the body.

Excitement prevents proper drainage of blood vessels and if extreme, will cause souring of the meat very soon after dressing. In no instance should an animal be killed after a long drive or a rapid run about the pasture. If heated by such causes it is far better to allow it to rest over night than to risk the meat spoiling. The flesh of an animal that has been overheated is usually a pale color and very often develops a sour or putrid odor within three or four days after being dressed. It is also essential that the animal be carefully handled so as not to bruise the body. Bruises cause the blood to settle in that portion of the body affected, presenting an uninviting appearance and often causing the loss of a considerable part of the carcass.

When much meat is prepared for use on the farm, it will be well to provide such tools that are necessary for the rapid prosecution of the work. A seven-inch curved skinning knife, 8-inch straight sticking knife, a 14-inch steel, a 28-inch meat saw, a candlestick scraper and an ax, are all the tools really essential for rapid dressing. Some means of raising the carcass and a place to hang the lighter ones should be provided. A block and tackle with a six-inch pulley will answer the purpose very well if they may be had and a suitable place for suspending them. Age affects the flavor and texture of the meat to quite an extent. While it is not possible to state the age at which the animal is best for meat, it is a well known fact that meat from old animals is more likely to be tough than from young ones. The flesh from very young animals frequently lacks flavor and is watery. An old animal properly fat-tended and in good health is preferable to a young one in poor condition.

Poultry and Eggs Pay.

Every year demonstrates that the egg market is never fully supplied. We are compelled to import eggs to keep pace with the demand, and if the Western farmers are unable to make poultry pay, because of the location and markets, there is nothing in the way of the farmer who has markets all around him. It is creditable to farmers that they may produce a large proportion of the poultry and eggs that are sold in the large cities, but there is room for more production. The obstacle in the way of success is that poultry does not receive the care bestowed on larger stock. In all experiments made with cows and poultry, on the same proportion of land, the poultry gave the greater profit, and yet the profits could be made larger. Fifty hens are not too many on an acre of land, and the average profit should be $1 per hen a year. This is fifty dollars per acre profit. The cow will not give such a large average in proportion. A flock of good hens, however, if well managed should average more than a dollar each. If each hen produced one dozen eggs additional during the winter, it would make a large difference in the profits. The point is to secure this addition, and to do so the farmer should be willing to give his whole attention to a large flock if he can do so by disposing of some stock that may be unprofitable. It means a different system from giving the poultry over to the women to manage. The way to make poultry pay is for the farmer to hold, and when the snow covers the ground, to do for the hens as for other animals.

Meat That is Wasted.

A large quantity of excellent meat suitable for poultry is wasted in the country every year. Old horses that are intended for destruction are as suitable as ordinary beef for poultry. More money can be realized from a useless horse by taking off his hide, feeding the meat, and using the bones for fertilizer, than by any other mode of disposing of it. Any kind of meat will answer for poultry. In Texas, rabbits are used because they are plentiful. Horses are converted into "ground meat" and sold in that form. They can be used to better advantage when the meat is fresh. A bone cutter will reduce both bones and meat to a fineness suitable for poultry, and increase the number of eggs. In winter such meat will keep for a long time. It pays better to use horses for a large flock than to buy grain, as the extra number of eggs secured will more than return the cost of the meat. Meat will induce the hens to lay when other foods fail. Give more meat, but avoid that which is very fat.

Are we all actually in favor of good roads, or are we just talking to hear our heads rattled? If we are in earnest, why not get down to business? Unless there is something done, the roads will never be any better than at present. Now is the time to get together and decide on some permanent plan. Let everybody get in earnest just once. Are you willing to pay your part toward building some kind of good roads? We have all got to get together, work together and pull together. If some pull forward and the rest pull back, we will make no progress. Any one that is against improving our roads should go way back and set down. Whatever you do, do it now. Tomorrow may be too late. Your horses may get in one of those big mud holes and drown you, or else fall in a rut and break your neck.

Brain Leaks.

The wise man will not ask for a man's reason.

The man who guesses at his work gaps at the result.

The bent of the boy often indicates the breaking of the father.

Gifts given with expectation of return are likely to be better than bribes.

Man may buy immunity from man-law, but there is one law that is above purchase.

We'd give a whole lot if we could enjoy burning blisters on our fingers like we did about thirty years ago. Wouldn't you.

The man who undertakes to fight the devil with fire is going to himself engaged with an antagonist who is thoroughly familiar with the weapon. We may be wrong, but somehow or other we have grave suspicions about the men who are forever agitating about a "noiseless fourth." The man who has forgotten that he was once a boy might forget to be a man in a busines deal.

INDIAN TERRITORY.

ARDMORE, July 9, 1905.

Editor News: I feel it a duty incumbent upon me to say a few things through the columns of your splendid paper concerning my visit among my friends in Adair and Russell counties, and I must say that for hospitality and friendship, the world does not produce it that surpasses Adair and Russell counties either in quality or quantity. I have frequently been treated better than I deserved, but for the first time in life I was treated better than I really wanted to be. I only regret that I did not have the time to visit all my kindred and friends.

It had been fifteen long and weary years since I had seen my old home, and my feelings as I approached the scene of my childhood can only be realized by an emotional character like myself that has undergone the same experience. I was happy and yet sad, but it was happier to be sad than it was to be happy without being sad. Upon returning home I found every thing lovely, some corn getting too hard for roasting ears, and I believe the heaviest yield we have ever had in this country. Wheat and oats are as fine as the soil is capable of producing. Cotton is somewhat backward and not all very promising. The fruit crop is very fine, and is now in its full prime. It seems that a great number of Kentuckians are preparing to come to this country, and to more fully understand existing conditions, might be very profitable. The Indian Territory, while settled to a great extent by white men, is not in its true sense a white man's country. It all belongs to the Indians except a very small per cent., that is gradually coming on market and being bought by white men. The intermarried citizen is a white person who has married an Indian, thereby obtaining an Indian right in this country. They are permitted to sell all their surplus and as soon as they designate and file upon it. The reasons for that are, that they are supposed to be sufficiently intelligent to manage their own affairs judiciously, and any Indian, full blooded or mixed breed, after being examined by the proper authorities who are appointed by the government, and are considered competent to manage their own affairs can have their restrictions removed, and, also, when an Indian dies and leaves no minor he's, his entire allotment, consisting of three hundred and twenty acres, can be sold. It is thought that at the next session of Congress that all Indians will be given permission to sell their surplus land.

After the Indians have all designated their lands and filed, there will be a regular auction, and all lands which will be sold by the Government to the highest bidder, each bid to be sealed and sent in to the Department of the Interior accompanied by a certified check covering at least three per cent. of the amount bid, the Government retaining the right to reject any and all bids. This money is then deposited to the credit of the Indians, but at present good land can be bought for from $10-$15 per acre. This land will produce from twenty-five to fifty bushels of corn, twenty to forty bushels of wheat, forty to seventy-five bushels of oats, and from one half to one half of cotton per acre without any fertilizing, fruit and vegetables thrive all over the country and all told, in topographical beauty, in the beauty of its streams with their verdant banks and wooded valleys, its prairie and mountain scene, the wonderful productivity of the soil, the lovely climate, with our constant Gulf breeze, render this one of the most desirable places for the habitation of man. Every thing is push and hustle. Some of the extra energy may be the outgrowth of running out of the way of cyclones which are not nearly so bad as is thought by some living at such a distance that with the mental pessimism of our ocular system depict the space occupied by a mouse to be that of an elephant. But amidst all this let me say from the depth of my heart, three cheers for the big-hearted Kentuckians.

Very Respect
U. T. Rexford.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

O —

For Justice.

We are authorized to announce A. F. Wilson
as a candidate for Justice of Adair County, subject to the action of the Democratic party.The decision of Judge Cochran taking the Caleb Powers case out of the courts of this State and placing it in the Federal Court, in our judgment, is the most sweeping decision ever rendered against State rights and one of the strongest moves towards striking down local government and building an arrogant federal government whose reign and power would be closely allied to monarchical rule. If this decision is allowed to stand it establishes a precedent, if followed, that will eventually overthrow State rights. The reason given for this dangerous departure, by Judge Cochran, is that Powers cannot get a fair trial in the State courts.
If Judge Cochran's opinion is well taken, then, indeed, it is bad, but we cannot see any reason why a Federal Court would be fairer than the State. Powers should have a fair trial and no fair-minded man wants him to have anything else. Passion has subsided and reason and judgment hold full sway and there is no justifiable reason why he will not get justice in Kentucky Courts. His friends, who are so determined on his liberation, ought not to trespass on the sacredness of State rights to accomplish it. Powers has not lacked legal ability nor money to make a vigorous defense. It has been the evidence of innocence that has been most needed to acquit him, but in all his trials this has been sought but not found.
Now, the last effort is to place
his case in the custody of those who seek his liberation and strike down State rights and call this fair. It is our judgment this will not go.The Republicans of Louisville took but little interest in the primary held last Saturday to nominate a candidate for Mayor.
One wing of Republicans are making an effort to nominate J.
T. O'Neal, a democrat, as a reform movement, but many Republicans are opposed to him, and declare, if he is nominated, they will not support him.
There were only 1,365 votes cast in the primary, and should Mr. O'Neal be nominated he would have but little showing for election. The indications are that Mr. Barth, the nominee of the Democrats, will win hands-down.Democrats of Adair county should remember that the county Committee will meet the 19th of August for the purpose of selecting county candidates. A number of gentlemen have signified a willingness to become candidates
if the party so wills. If a ticket should be named the utmost precaution should be taken and the very best men selected.Judge T. H. Paynter and Senator Blackburn are moving over the State arranging their fences.The friends of Caleb Powers are now trying to lay a foundation for bail. They say his health is fast failing and that he eats but little.The Peace Commission will meet in Washington as soon after August 1st as possible, but it is not certain that an agreement will be reached. Japan wants indemnity; just how much can not at this time be estimated.Mayor August Heimbold, of Newport, and Policeman Ratigan
and Elynn were held to answer
before the Federal grand jury on two charges obstructing and threatening a Federal officer and intimidating a Federal prisoner—
Caleb Powers.The County Attorney's Association,
which met at Crab Orchard, passed resolutions requesting the Legislature to strike out the words
"at random" in section 1308 of the statutes relating to shooting on the highway, and also to revise the law governing jury challenges.

Mr. A. D. Coy, wife and children, and Mr. W. T. Price and Miss Annie Eubank spent last Sunday with Mr. W. E. Frazee and wife, Purdy, this county.

Dr. Loren Williams and wife, of Glasgow, arrived in Columbia last Thursday afternoon and are now visiting at the home of Dr. Williams' father, Mr. Joel.

Mrs. T. F. Neil and daughter, Miss Esther, returned to Somerset last week, accompanied by Mr. Jo Ed Flowers, Mrs. Keen, sister of Mrs. Nell, left for home in Texas.

Mr. J. M. Frazer, of Springfield, Ill., whose family has been visiting here for the past month, arrived last Saturday afternoon. "Mack" is looking well and is daily meeting his friends.

Mrs. Margaret Taylor, of Greensburg, a young lady of culture and superior education, has accepted a position, and will become a member of the M. and F. High School Faculty during the coming school year. As an elocutionist and teacher she has but few superiors, her work having given perfect satisfaction wherever she has taught. This announcement will be gratifying to her many friends throughout the Green river section of the State, and the management feel sure that she will be a valuable addition to the old and noted institution "up the river." Miss Taylor spent several days of last week with Miss Daut Marcus, meeting a number of friends.

Mrs. J. B. Barbee is visiting in Indiana.

T. L. Upton left on a ten day trip to Louisiana Monday.

A. A. Miller, of Crocus, was in town the first of the week.

Eliza Feese and Leslie Staples were in Cane Valley, Sunday.

Jo and Peter Conover and Frank Collins spent Sunday in Louisville.

Prof. C. R. Payne and his two little daughters went to Burkesville Sunday.

Miss Minna Tressenreiter, of Greensburg, is visiting relatives in Columbia.

Mr. R. G. Coffey and mother, attended the funeral of the late Jas. T. Caldwell.

Judge J. P. Holson, of the Court of Appeals, spent yesterday, mingling with friends in Columbia.

As we are informed by Mr. Fred Myers that the electric light plant will be running on time by the last of this week or the first of next. An electric line from Lebanon was here all last week and will probably remain until the plant is started. The cause of delay, as we understand, some of the wires were not properly adjusted.

Miss Sallie Patterson, of Jamestown, will give a house party beginning next Friday. She will be assisted by Miss Ada May Jones. Several couples from Somerset and Monticello will be present and quite a number of Columbians.

Miss Katie Murrell is in Jamestown and Mr. Tim Cravens and Miss Nina Marcus; Fred Hill and Miss Rose, Robt. Reed and perhaps others will drive over Friday.

Mr. J. D. Hughes, who is with Hughes & Coffey, grows more with the young ladies daily. Last Friday Miss Eva Mae Wilson, of Bowling Green, Misses Pearl Hindman, Martha Hancock, Clara Wilmore, and Margaret Walker seized Ras Strange's delivery wagon, gracefully helped Jim to a seat, and one of the ladies becoming the Jeth, drove the gentleman to his dinner.

Miss Pearl and Lillian Neil, of Frankfort, are visiting their sisters, Mrs. Gao, Staples and Mrs. James Eubank, of this city. They will spend two or three weeks here at their old home.

J. D. Hughes, Miss Margaret Taylor; J. W. Flowers, Sallie Ray Marcus; Paul Smythe, Katherine Cartwright; Fred Hancock, Ebie Bradford; spent last Sunday afternoon at Griffin Springs.

W. S. Page, (Tobe) a native of this place, who has been living in Texas for the past twenty years, is visiting his relatives and friends in Columbia.

Upon his arrival he was given a cordial greeting by all friends of his boyhood days.

Mr. J. L. McLean and sister, Miss Virginia, and mother, Mrs. Sallie F. McLean visited relatives, the family of Mrs. Hattie Cundiff at Cave Valley, Sunday.

Mrs. Cundiff has been in ill health for several months, but is much improved at this time.

Mr. D. H. Butler, of Sacramento, Ky., is visiting his brother, Judge J. W. Butler, who is lying at death's door. Mr. Butler left Columbia four years ago for Sacramento, and this being his first visit to his brother, he and many friends were real glad to see him.

CHEAP LANDS
For Homeseekers' and Colonies.

The country along the Cotton Belt Route in Southeast Missouri, Arkansas, Northwest Louisiana and Texas offers the greatest opportunities to Homeseekers. Mild climate, good water, cheap building material, abundance of fuel, and soil that will often, in a single season, yield enough to pay for the ground. Land can be bought as cheap as $2.50 an acre. Praire land at $4. and $5. per acre. Bottom land at $6. and $6. per acre up. Improved or partly cleared land at $10. and $15. per acre up. Some fine propositions for colonies—tracts of 2000 to 8000 acres at $4 to $10 per acre—big money in this for a good organizer. Fruit and truck lands in the famous peach and tomato belt of East Texas, at $10. to $20. per acre up. Write us for information about cheap rates, excursion dates also literature descriptive of this great country and let us help you find a home that will cost you no more than the rent you pay every year.

COCONUT BUTTER.

It Will Keep Well for a Long Time
and Is a Good Antiseptic Medium.

A new butter is now being made from the milk of the coconut. This milk, when subjected to a temperature of over 28 C., turns into a solid butter, resembling the butters of India and Africa. The better qualities of it are obtained from Ceylon, Cochin-China and Australia.
The nut produces 60 per cent. of oil
and one acre of land planted with coconut trees will produce over one ton of oil. This has hitherto been used for fats for soaps or for machinery oil, and the better qualities employed in the manufacture of textiles goods. In France this oil is now subjected to a special treatment and converted into butter.

Dr. Heinrich, a German chemist, proposes to buy up all the coconut oils and transform them into what he terms "vegetable butter."

The coconut butter, made that way, contains more milk, contains seven per cent. of soluble acids. It will keep from 25 to 30 times less butter than ordinary butter, while its slow digestion makes it especially suitable for pastry and cakes, as they will not get stale so quickly when made with it as with other butter.

Another advantage claimed for the coconut butter is that it seems to be an antiseptic medium, while milk is most favorable to the culture of microbes.

At the central hospital of Vienna and in various hospitals, in Switzerland, experiments have been made with this new butter, and the results have been pronounced satisfactory.

The GERMAN DRESSMAKER

The Thing That Greatly Surprised
Her When She Learned Her Employer's Calling.

A young woman author recently hired a German dressmaker to do some work for her. The German came to the apartment daily, and after a consultation or a fitting the woman would leave, and the dressmaker would remain.

"I could see that she was trying to place me," said the author, in telling the story. "When she first came and saw so many pictures and sketches about the house, she asked me if I could paint, and I replied in the negative."

"Then she looked around for a piano
and seeing none, asked if I could sing.
Again I told her no, and of course it was quite evident that I knew nothing about dрамatising."

"On the last day I decided to end her suspense, so after a little friendly conversation I informed her in vague but impressive terms that I wrote, mentioning one or two things that she recognized. Her honest German face was raised in wonder to mine."

"You don't say now! You do all that! But I always thought it took a lot of brains!" —N. Y. Sun.

Ultramicroscopy.

By this is meant the examining of visible, either direct or the mirror, or through the aid of photography, of objects or particles too minute to be seen with the highest powers of the microscope as it is now constructed.

Prof. Cleveland Abbe suggests that by this process one can examine the substance and even illuminating them with ultraviolet light, smaller particles
than can possibly be seen with ordinary white or colored light may be brought into prominence. The human eye is not yet ultraviolet light but fluorescence can be seen in certain waves into longer ones capable of affecting the retina. The same principle applies to photographic visibility, and Prof. Abbe thinks that the ultimate limit of such visibility will be of the same dimension as that of the larger molecules of matter. The Joneses will need to be brought for this kind of work—Yonah's Companion.

English Competition.

The coal miners in the south of Austria have been obliged to reduce the price of coal because English ships on their way to the Black sea for corn have taken British coal from Cardiff to Trieste at the rate of one dollar a ton,

while the English coal cost $1.50 a ton and dollars, and has even been as much as $3.75. The price of British coal is so low that unless Austrian mine owners reduce their prices British coal will find its way into Austria in large quantities.

Jones Wasn't.

Smith had buttonholed Jones and talked to him fully 15 minutes about the tariff.

"That's the way I look at the question,"
he said. "I'm a stand-patter."

"Well, I'm not," growled Jones. "I can't stand your patter."—Chicago Tribune.

GREATEST SWINDLER HERE

Perpetrator of Frauds, Sojourning in America, Writes Story of

His Life.

Berlin.—George Mandesescu, who claims to be the world's greatest swindler, has published a remarkable autobiography.

He says he was born at Bucharest
in 1871, and at the age of 15 ran away to sea. Even at that time he had an aptitude for swindling, and he perpetrated many acute frauds in the Mediterranean ports, but arrived at Athens a year later destitute, and requested the Roumanian consul to send him home.

The consul refused, whereupon Mandesescu attempted suicide in the consulate, and was conveyed to a hospital. The queen of Greece took an interest in him and visited his bedside until he recovered. Her majesty then paid his passage home.

Shortly before his eighteenth birthday Mandesescu swindled his way to Paris and perpetrated so many successful frauds that he was able to purchase an expensive residence, race
horses, and live in princely luxury.

Later he was sentenced in Paris to four years imprisonment for perpetrating frauds involving £40, 000.

Leaving the prison at the age of 22,
he took the title of Prince Lanavary and had a double career.

Outwardly he was a rich society man,
moving in the best circles and living in extravagant luxury.

Secretly he was perpetrating frauds,
committing burglaries, and enriching himself at the expense of others.

He married a woman belonging to the German aristocracy, and was a prominent figure at Monte Carlo, winning and losing thousands of pounds.

After a decade of successful swindling he was arrested at Berlin and convicted of being a dangerous lunatic.

He escaped and after committing a series of burglaries in Berlin, Dresden, and other German towns,
he finally escaped to America, where he is now living.

GRADUATE IN OLD CLOTHES

Unique Commencement Exercises of

a Kansas Manual Training Institution.

Pittsburg, Kan.—A class of 31 students, 30 young women and one young man, graduated from the Kansas
manual training school recently.

The class of 1905 is the second class of graduates from this new institution.

The commencement exercises, which were held in the assembly hall of the normal school, were novel and interesting. For the first time in the history of Kansas, a class graduated in a week instead of a month.

On the platform had been arranged a table with a chair fastened to it with a motor, connected with the power cable.

A woodworking bench had also been placed on the platform, with a complete complement of woodworking tools.

A cookery table had also been placed on the platform, where the girls demonstrated in class work that was of joinery by Miss Grace Evans, of Columbus; ice cream making, by Miss Dora Bumann, of Littlefield, Ill.; wood carving, by Anna Myers, of Weir County; and basket making, Misses Eleon-ore, Lowell, of Fort Scott, and Elizabeth Wegley, of Great Bend.

At the close of the class song President J. N. Wilkinson, of the normal school, delivered a short address to the graduates.

Jung L. B. Kellogg, secretary of the state board of regents, presented the diplomas to the members of the class.

CUNNING'S GREAT WORK.

At all Naval Recruit Beaten by Man on Battleground Kentucky Who Hits

Target Every Time.

Washington.—Thirteen hits out of 15 were made by the 54-inch five-inch gun at a 1520-foot target 1400 yards, or almost a mile distant, is the marvelous record-breaking performance of one of the gunners on the battleship Kentucky in the practice maneuvers of the annual Hook of Rear Admiral Harvey in the Atlantic.

That the wonderful shooting was not merely luck upon the part of the gunner is shown by the fact that another gunner made 12 hits out of 14 shots
at a rifle over four seconds for each shot, staying well within the time limit on all the shooting.

The performance has never been equalled in the American navy, and, so far as known, it is the best five-inch gun shooting ever accomplished in any navy in the world. The terrific execution of the gunners by the Japanese fleet was achieved through far less accurate work.

The Great State of Texas.

Not everybody has any clearly defined idea of the immensity of Texas, both area and scope of productions, as shown by the figures of the last census. It is a princely domain, a magnificent republic in itself.

The area of Texas is 265,780 square miles—about seven times that of Kentucky. It is, by nearly double, the largest State in the American union, and sixth in population with an inhabitancy of 3,048,710. From its southeastern to its northwestern corner is over 1,000 miles, and if it could be swung around on a pivot its northernmost border would touch the great lakes.

The agricultural products of Texas have already attained an annual value of more than $300,000,000. The improved lands cover 20,000,000, the unimproved cover 107,000,000 acres, while it has 66,000 square miles or one fourth of its total territory—in virgin forest. There are 12,000 miles of railroad tracks in the State, and to travel from one end of Texas to the other at thirty miles an hour takes two days and two nights.

Cotton, cotton-seed sugar, rice, oil, corn, wheat, barley, rye, tobacco, hay, fruits of all kinds, both of the tropical and temperate zones, nuts, garden truck, poultry cattle, horses and hogs are its chief agricultural resources, while its practically undeveloped resources of ores and minerals are magnificent in possibilities.

Texas now ranks sixth in population, with a rapidity of growth that warrants the assertion that, within a few years she will stand at the head of the list.

The States now outranking her in population are old and thickly settled, while Texas carries a population of only eleven—or about two average families—to the square mile.

It is impossible to imagine the future of this magnificent State. The twenty-eighth admitted into the union, it is to-day first in area, sixth in population, third in railroad mileage, fifth in the value of its farm animals, while in variety, richness and totals of agricultural resources, it probably stands first of all.

What a great State it is—what an infinitely greater State it will be!—Glasgow Times.

For The Stings of Insects.

Now that the picnic season is upon us, a few helps on this subject may be timely. Every one suffers more or less at times from the soreness and itching caused by the attacks of the ever-present gnat, mosquito, or varieties of bugs and other insects which render Summer outdoor life any thing but comfortable. It is said that insects do not trouble where aromatic spirits or vinegars are used. A decoction of dried vervain leaves is claimed to disgust the hungry mosquito. The leaves may be had of the druggist, and should be steeped as one does tea, strained and the liquid rubbed on exposed parts of the body. Spirits of camphor or elderberry water may be used. A small quantity of solution of menthol or camphor phenique, or of equal parts of camphor and ammonia are said to diminish the irritation of the sting or bite. A touch of turpentine or coal oil is also recommended. For bee-stings, a fresh onion or leek, cut in two and rubbed on the spot is also said to be good. Liquid sulphur, it is claimed, will aid where the tick has bitten. One of the best things to stop the torture of the seed-tick is a wash in very strong soapsuds, the common laundry soap being used. Or the soap may be made into a jelly, the jelly rubbed over the body and then rubbed off with warm water.—Ex.

CALIFORNIA

Do you want to live where the climate is mild the year round—where labor is never oppressed by stress of weather, and where animal vitality is never lost by mere conflict with cold?

Do you want to live in a region where the resources are more varied than in any other equal area in the world, where the division of great ranches affords a fine opportunity to get a small farm that will assure you a competence?

Do you want to live where, with a minimum of labor, you can grow profitable crops of grapes and small fruit, oranges, lemons, olives, prunes and almonds, alfalfa and grain, where crops are sure, business is good and capital easily finds profitable investment?

Then go to California, where both health and opportunity await your coming.

The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line

is the most direct route to the Pacific Coast, and there are two fast through trains daily via this line, over the famous double-track railway between Chicago and the Missouri River. One-way Colonist tickets are on sale daily, March 1 to May 15, at the rate of $33.00 from Chicago, with correspondingly low rates from all points, give you an unusual chance to make the trip.

These tickets are good on daily and personally conducted excursions, on which a double berth in a Pullman tourist sleeping car from Chicago costs only $7.00. Round-trip tickets are always on sale from all points at reduced rates via the
